Rivers to Cross

Rivers, Saskatchewan's original transportation routes, were barriers to c travel. Ferries, and then bridges, spanned our waterways.

Nowadays almost all Saskatchewan highways cross our rivers on mode Other lower-traffic crossings are served by ferries. Ferries operate from April 15 to November 15 each year. When your route includes a ferry cr use this chart to check the ferry's location and service.

Traffic Regulations

Many safety features are built into Saskatchewan's highway system — like guardrailing, intersection lighting, and pavement markings. Other travel safety features are built into our traffic laws: such as the regulations requiring that everyone over five years and/or 50 pounds wear available seatbelts and that infants ride secured in approved car seats. We've summarized here a few of Saskatchewan's traffic regulations. Please read, and heed them — for safety's sake.

This summary contains the intent of some Saskatchewan

Planning a safe trip requires information about road conditions on your route.

In Saskatchewan we have a 24-hour road information service called Hotline. Simply call the nearest of our nine Hotline numbers for information about road conditions everywhere in the province.

Moose Jaw 694-0555	Rosetown 882-2791
North Battleford . . 445-3825	Saskatoon 244-9500
Prince Albert 764-5100	Swift Current 773-2955
Regina 565-7623	Weyburn 842-6561
or 565-ROAD	Yorkton 782-2400

Our Hotline operators can also tell you where highway construction projects are underway, and what traffic accommodation is provided.

You'll see signs on many major highways reminding motorists to slow down to 60 km/h when passing highway workers. Maintenance and construction crews share the road with you -- please watch for them, and slow down --for their safety, and yours!

More information about the season's major roadbuilding projects is published in the 1981 Highway Construction map. The map shows where major road construction projects are planned, together with the projected start and finish dates, plus traffic accommodation details. The map is another service to help you plan a safe pleasant trip. It's available by late May at most tourist information centres and at Saskatchewan Highways & Transporation offices. Or write for your copy to:

Saskatchewan Highways & Transportation
Public Communications Branch
1855 Victoria Avenue
Regina, Saskatchewan S4P 3V5

Extra copies of the Official Highway map you're reading are available from the same sources.

...eaves west shore on ... leaves east shore

During the last decade, several major bridges have been built over Saskatchewan's rivers, like the Toby Nollet Bridge north of Maidstone p below. Replacing a seasonal ferry service, bridges provides year-round, direct-route crossings for highway traffic . . . with economies in time, er travel safety.

Sign Language for Safe Travel

Highway signs and pavement markings help motorists travel safely. Signs must be clearly seen and understood quickly to be useful, so Saskatchewan uses international standards for highway signs. Reflective surfacing gives good readability, even at night, allowing safe motorist response to new information. Breakaway standards reduce injuries and vehicle damage if an accident occurs. Even their color and shape carry messages. Watch our sign language . . . it has a message for your safety!

Regulatory Signs . . . express the law in distinctive shapes and colors. The red octagon (STOP), the red and white triangle (YIELD) and white-background rectangles or squares all direct speed and flow of traffic.

Take Time in Saskatchewan

Take time . . . to enjoy our parks, and campgrounds, our farms and fishing, our mines and museums. But above all, take time to travel . . . safely. How long will the trip take?

To calculate driving time, divide your total trip distance by 100 (since most major highways have a 100 km/h speed limit) and add "coffee break" time. Use the chart for distances between major Saskatchewan centres, and add any additional distance to your own destination by using the black distance figures from the map face. Remember, in Canada we measure distance in kilometres . . . about six-tenths of a mile.

Welcome to the land of wide horizons. Saskatchewan offers prairie grasslands and evergreen forests, mines and museums, fishing and football, antiques and electronics, prairie dogs and parks... all with our legendary western hospitality. 1981 marks the 50th anniversary of Saskatchewan's provincial park system. Our seventeen parks each preserve unique natural features that are "specially Saskatchewan" for your enjoyment. Smell summer's breeze riffling tall grasses on a buffalo lookout, paddle our northern white water, watch a sunset over the legendary Qu'Appelle Valley, fry a fish from our cool lakes, and enjoy our Saskatchewan parks.

In Saskatchewan, people care about people. We care that every motorist has a safe, pleasant trip. While we build safety into our highways, we also encourage motorists to do their part: to wear safety belts, observe speed limits, and drive with care.... for safety's sake.

Enjoy your travel, enjoy our parks, enjoy Saskatchewan!
